LAPPONI CHOSEN

He Is Appointed Physician to the Vatican by the New Pope, Today.

Nearly all the cardinals now in Rome were present. Beautiful Music The music was of high order and was especially composed by Perelli the noted writer of masses and oratorios. Dr. Lapponi was appointed physician to the vatican, the same position he held under Pope Leo. Final Vote It is learned this morning that the final vote for popeship stood Sarto 55 votes, Rampolla four and Gotti two, both Rampolla and Sarto voting for Cardinal Gotti.

GOVERNMENT HAS MADE ITS REPORT

Tells of the Conditions of Crops in the Country as a Whole.

The government weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions, says: Throughout the northern portions, of the country from New England to the north Pacific coast the temperature was too low for best results light frosts occurring in North Dakota but in the southern states it was more favorable although clear and warmer weather is needed in the west gulf districts. Portions of the South Atlantic and east gulf states and the central and lower Mississippi valleys need rain but else where east of the Rocky mountains rains have been ample. Corn is greatly improved and especially in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and portions of Illinois and the lake region, the least favorable reports being received from Missouri, and Ohio valley states. The crop continues late. An excellent crop is now assured in the southern states. General rain in the spring-wheat region of the upper Missouri and Red River of the north valleys checked the ripening of the spring wheat and caused better filling of the heads. Rust in oats is quite extensively reported in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and portions of Pennsylvania, but late rains have benefited the crop in Minnesota. Harvesting is well advanced in the more northerly sections, being largely completed elsewhere with yields generally lighter, than anticipated. The improvement in cotton continues generally throughout the cotton belt. It is fruiting well although too rank growth in portions of the central and western districts and shedding on sandy lands in Carolina are reported.

A Mystery of the Season. No one has ever clearly explained why, at this season of the year, a girl whose skin would be hopelessly ruined were she to roll up her sleeves and put her hands into a dishpan half full of water for a few minutes, can play golf or tennis, bare-armed, all day long, or go into the water bathing morning, noon and night, and be proud of the color she acquires in so doing. Why is it, girls? Don't all about the answer at once.

Child Prodigy. Torquato Tasso was famous throughout Italy before he was nine years old as an accomplished Greek and Latin scholar, and the author of clever and polished verses; and at thirteen he was the intellectual center of the brilliant court at Urbino. Pastor Believes in Athletics. Rev. Earl Willey, pastor of the New Castle, Pa., Christian church, occupied the pitcher's box at a game of baseball played by local clubs last week. Mr. Willey is an earnest advocate of clean athletic sports and does all in his power to encourage them.

Hard Workers Live Long. Hard work does not shorten life. Bancroft, the historian, died at ninety, Peter Cooper at ninety-two and Humboldt at ninety.

How the Guide Felt. Ethel—How did you feel when the avalanche buried you? Guide—I felt as if a hard cold had settled all over me.—Judge.

LORD CURZON TO SERVE LONGER

Considers It His Duty To Remain As Viceroy of India.

Simla, Aug. 5.—Viceroy Curzon informed the council at today's sitting that he had decided to accept the governments offer of an extension of his term of office with permission to take a vacation in England in 1904 should he so desire. Lord Curzon said he was fully aware of the strain on his health, and spirits and the fact that only two viceroys in the last fifty years had stayed in office beyond five years. This however was too short a term for a government which had embarked on wide schemes of reform, and it would be a neglect of duty to abandon his share of the work.

WHEAT HARVEST IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Yield Is Expected To Be One of the Greatest in the History of the State.

Sioax Falls, S. D., Aug. 5.—The wheat harvest is now in progress in the southern portion of the state, and will become general in the northern part within a week or ten days. Some fields in the northern portion are ripe and the grain is being cut this week. Reports from all sections of the state continue to indicate that, except where injured or destroyed by hail, the wheat yield will be one of the greatest in the history of South Dakota. An estimate of the total yield for the state of 50,000,000 bushels is regarded as conservative by experts who have recently gone over the state and made a careful inspection of the crop. In many localities the harvest came on so suddenly that it became necessary, because of a scarcity of harvest hands, for the wives and daughters of farmers to go into the fields. Yields of oats running all the way from forty to ninety and one hundred bushels per acre are reported. Barley in some sections is running as high as sixty and seventy bushels. Corn is making a really wonderful growth and prospects were never more favorable than now for an immense yield throughout the state.

TWO ARE KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Boy at Fox Lake, Ill., Finds Bodies of Farmers.

Fox Lake, Ill., Aug. 5.—Lightning killed Daniel Walsh and his cousin, James Walsh. The two men went to the sheds to milk the cows. It is believed that they finished the work and had gone to the milkhouse to rest. Daniel sat bolt upright on a milking stool. His features were slightly contorted and a small blackened spot near the base of the skull showed the manner in which he had met death. James was lying stretched at full length upon the floor. A partly emptied pail of milk was at his side. It is believed that he was struck while in the act of straining the contents of the pail. The bodies were found by Tommy Moore, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Englewood, Chicago, who was staying at the farmhouse for the summer.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

A Philadelphia woman has been arrested at the New York post office on the charge of having raised postal notes. The division of the offices is the bone of contention in the joint conference at Niagara Falls to bring about an amalgamation of teamsters' unions. The preponderance of red in Milwaukee's proposed flag has led her citizens to fear it would arouse suspicion among visitors that anarchists held the city. Indianapolis had been flooded with circulars calling upon the white people to subordinate negroes to them selves.

Books of the assessor show that James J. Hill the railway magnate is listed at $136,000 of which $96,000 is in stocks and bonds. The governments may take possession of the Merchants' Bridge at St. Louis, if it is shown that a consolidation has been formed. A mob at Needmore, Tenn., has killed John Milikin, a negro preacher and mortally wounded his son-in-law, John Hunter. Cause for the lynching is not known as both men bore good reputations. Citizens of Brighton Park, a suburb of Chicago in a mass meeting, passed resolutions condemning the action of the railway in placing sand piles on the boulevard. A strike is said to be imminent on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, unless differences are speedily settled. Marshall Field has accepted the site for the Field Columbian Museum in Grant Park, Chicago and work on the lake front breathing spot will be rushed. Survivors of the earthquake on the island of St. Vincent are said to be sick and starving, the result of poor judgment in using funds contributed for their needs. A non-commissioned German officer named Dunkel has just been reduced to the ranks and sentenced to two and one-half years' imprisonment for hundreds of cases of brutality to soldiers under his command.

The samples of ore are almost pure gold and the particles of rock are simply held together by the stringers of the yellow metal.

RUSSIA DICTATES ITS OWN TERMS

Insists on Two Conditions in the Commercial Treaty With Germany.

Berlin, Aug. 5.—The papers today print a statement, which is regarded as semi-official, to the effect that Russia will insist on two conditions as indispensable to the new German commercial treaty with Russia. First—A heavy reduction in the duties on meat and animals. Second—To confine the minimum duties on grain to states entering into treaty relations with Germany, to the exclusion of the United States and Argentina.

GOVERNMENT MAY SEIZE BIG BRIDGE AT ST. LOUIS

Company Is Alleged To Have Violated Provisions of Charter Under Which It Operates.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Secretary Root has addressed a communication to the Merchants' Bridge company, the owner of the large bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis, asking the company to show cause why the United States should not take possession of the bridge under the statute which provided for its construction. Under the law the secretary of war can take possession of the bridge without legal proceedings of any kind if any of three things happens—namely, if the bridge company consolidates with any other bridge company; if the company pools its earnings with any other company; if the same officers of any other company become officers of the Merchants' Bridge company. In the allegations presented to the secretary of war it is declared that leases made by the Merchants' Bridge company constitute a consolidation with another company. It is charged that the St. Louis Terminal association, part of whose property is the Eads bridge, also controls the Merchants' bridge and its facilities, as well as most of the railroad terminals of St. Louis. At present there is a bill before the St. Louis municipal assembly granting the terminal association certain privileges in the streets of the city in order to facilitate the handling of world's fair crowds and for permanent improvements. The measure is now in committee pending the asked-for repeal by the terminal association of the so-called "bridge arbitrary law" and the investigation of the charge that the control of the Merchants' bridge had passed to the terminal association contrary to law.

CRUELTY CHARGES ARE WELL PROVEN

Non-commissioned Officer in German Army Is Sentenced To Prison.

Berlin, Aug. 5.—The details are published today of a court-martial held at Metz on a non-commissioned officer named Dunkel for maltreating private soldiers at Meerchingen, Lorraine. Five hundred and seventy-six instances of brutality, all occurring since last December, were cited. The evidence showed Dunkel's fertile inventiveness in novel methods of punishment, such as compelling an soldier to run at full tilt across a room and ram his head against a wardrobe. The court decided that 366 counts of the indictment had been proved and sentenced Dunkel to two years and a half imprisonment and degradation from the ranks. The scandal became known to the military authorities through the suicide of one of the maltreated men, with an anonymous letter ascribed to Dunkel's brutalities. Stuttering Is Contagious. Stuttering children are numerous in the schools of Germany, and it is thought the ailment is contagious. At present there are 80,000 school children in that country whose speech is thus affected. ## NORTHERN DEER ARE PLENTIFUL

CUT OVER LANDS SEE BIG INCREASE IN NUMBER.

GAME LAWS ARE STRINGENT

Only in Certain Counties Can the Big Game Be Killed This Year.

There will be more deer this fall in the northern Wisconsin timber lands and cut over lands than for perhaps twenty-five years. This does not mean that the number of deer in the state is greater for the area of the deer country in Wisconsin has decreased in proportion to the increase and improvement of the farms of the state, but in the country where the deer have lived in late years their number has actually multiplied. This is the testimony of the north Wisconsin residents, tourists and others who are informed on the subject.

The reasons are various. One reason of much importance is the fact that the timber lands once slashed over in the great harvest, of logs and lumber, were cleared of the shelter so necessary for deer. The animals were hunted and killed with great facility and their number in the absence of any adequate protection by the state, rapidly decreased. These timber lands, or "slashings" have now heavy second growths of brush and young trees. This affords security and comfort to the deer. The necessity of undergrowth for the safety of deer is understood well by hunters and all who are familiar with the life and habits of Wisconsin's big game.

State Game Laws
The sale of all game is prohibited and all shipments of game must be accompanied by the shipper holding license duly issued him. Resident licenses cost $1 each and are issued by the county clerks. Non-resident deer and small game licenses cost $25 each, and for small game only $10. Non-resident licenses are issued only by the state fish and game warden at the office in the capitol at Madison. Applications may be mailed to him and the licenses secured. The $25 non-resident license, entitles the holder to transport out of the state two deer, and fifty game birds, the $10 non-resident license entitles the holder to transport out of the state fifty game birds only, and does not entitle the holder to hunt, kill or ship deer.

The open season for deer is generally the last twenty days in November, but there is no open season at all at any time in the counties of Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Manitowish and Calumet. There is no open season for deer in the counties of La Crosse, Monroe, Vernon, Trempealeau and Jackson until 1907. The open season for deer in Sauk, Adams, Columbia, Richland, and Marquette counties is during the last ten days in November. All counties not named have a general open season, from Nov. 11 to Nov. 30 inclusive. Certain methods of hunting deer are prohibited by the law as follows: With dogs in the night time, with artificial lights, in the water, by pitfall or pit, with snares, traps, set guns. The law forbids the hunting of fawns in the spotted coat or of deer in the red coat.

Decoy Ducks Limited
Wild duck, brant, and other aquatic fowl may be hunted between September 1 and January 1 and between April 10 and 25. It is unlawful to kill hunt or pursue any teal mallard or wood duck during the open season between April 10 and 25, or to kill more than fifteen ducks in any one day during the open season in the spring. All open water shooting of ducks is prohibited and the number of decoys is limited to twenty-five.

The open season for woodchuck, partridge, prairie chicken, pheasant and grouse of any variety, and plover is from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1. Prairie chickens must not be hunted in Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Outagamie, and Marinette counties until Sept. 1 1905. Rabbits and squirrels may be hunted from Sept. 1 to the following 1st of May.

Swan, Mongallan, Chinese or English pheasants, quail, carrier or homing pigeon, harmless birds or the nests or eggs of any harmless bird or water fowl must not be molested.

Fishing
The closed season for game fish, except brook trout, is from March 1 to May 25. Game fish must not be sold during the closed season. The season is closed for brook trout from Sept. 1 to April 15. Shipments of brook trout are limited to twenty pounds and must be accompanied by the shipper. Other game fish may be shipped in twenty pound lots not oftener than once a week by the same party. Angling and trolling are the only lawful methods of taking fish from the inland waters of the state except that a spear may be used to take fish in the daytime only.

BATHS REMEDY FOR INSANITY.
St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 5.—The establishment of public baths is held by Probate Judge Bazille to be the cause of the decrease of insanity in this country. In 1902 the Probate court handled 85 insane cases between January 1 and August 1. This year in the same period but fifty-three cases have been in the court, showing a decrease of thirty-two cases.

Mortgages

Band Concert Last Night: The central part of the court house park was jammed last evening with the people attracted by the weekly concert of the Imperial band.

BENEVOLENT PLAN TO CATCH FARMERS

New Graft in the State—A Non-Freezing Stock Tank Agency.

Farmers should beware of a new scheme that is being worked by some smooth men with great success in different parts of the state. They claim to represent a "non-freezing" stock tank agency and those who have been unfortunate enough to get taken in have found the patent tanks rather expensive propositions. It is worked in this way. A man appears, who has a patent non-freezing tank for sale. If the farmer makes the mistake of listening to the slippery agent, and buys one of the tanks, he is given the exclusive agency of several townships for their sale, and that too, without extra charge. The simple request is made, however, that he sign three papers. The farmers sign, and the papers in a few days turn into notes.

CHILD LABOR IS BEING KILLED

State Factory Inspectors Are Doing Good Work in Large Plants of the State.

"Child labor in Wisconsin will soon be a thing of the past."

This statement was made by State Factory Inspector A. C. Backus, in commenting on the reports from the deputies who are now busy in the interior of the state securing a compliance with requirements of the new labor law. All of them report that most of the factory owners seem willing to comply with the requirements, and although many children under age are taken from these factories it is done with little friction. At Eau Claire, Assistant Inspector H. P. Peterson has taken six cases into the courts, but this is the largest number. Assistant Inspector August Lehnoff has one case in the courts at La Crosse, J. J. Koopsell has one at Kenosha, and Henry J. Harbeck, who has been working in the Racine district, has brought one case into court there.

"We are enforcing the law to the letter," said Mr. Backus, in speaking of the work. "There is absolutely no hesitation and every requirement is absolutely and impartially enforced. We are finding little trouble with most of the manufacturers. They are beginning to realize that they must comply and most of them are helping us in every way possible."

"Probably the most serious problem we had to face was one that almost into the courts in the case of a big Milwaukee manufacturer. He employed a lot of children whom he knew to be under age. They had perjured affidavits, but under the old law we could do nothing. When the new law went into effect, and the burden of proof of age was placed upon the parents of these children this proof could not be furnished."

"Then the factory owner declared that he had made contracts with the parents of these children for their work, before this new law was passed, and that its enforcement would be a violation of contract. We called a conference of attorneys, however, but they advised the manufacturer that the child labor law was part of the police law of the state, and, as such, these contracts could not interfere. Upon their advice he let the children go."

"With the possible exception of Massachusetts, Wisconsin has undoubtedly the best child labor law in the country."

"One noticeable thing which the enforcement of this new law has brought about is the fact that by taking the younger children out of the factories it has made an opening for those between 16 and 20 years of age to find positions, where before they had to take the wages that were paid to younger children. Now they secure respectable wages, because the item of child labor competition has been eliminated."

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCrea of Afton are the happy parents of a son, born Sunday.

ATTACH NO BLAME TO ROONEY DEATH

Jury Yesterday Met to Hear Cause of Showman's Death in Railroad Yards.

No new facts were brought out in the inquest over the body of Jack Rooney, the dead circus man, held yesterday afternoon. None of the witnesses could tell of anything prior to the time the body was found by the side of the North-Western tracks. The verdict was to the effect that death had resulted from being run over by North-Western cars or an engine. The jurors were J. W. Richardson, H. W. Krahmer, E. H. Davies, E. H. Connell, Geo. Bucholz and Chauncey Millmore. Claim agent Belden of the North-Western road was present to learn the share which the railroad company had in the accident.

Rooney's body was sent to Baraboo last evening. A number of his fellow showmen accompanied him, to attend the funeral.

ARMOUR INSTITUTE OPENS ITS DOORS

Offers to Admit Graduates of Janesville High School, with Formality of Examination.

Armour Institute, the great Chicago school of technology, has admitted Janesville High School to its accredited list, a distinction that is regarded as no mean honor. In response to a letter from Supt. Buell, asking for circulars regarding the entrance qualifications, William Raymond, dean of the institute, replied:

"Knowing the grade of work done at your school, I take pleasure in extending to your students the privilege of entering without the formality of entrance examinations, provided, of course, that their work under your supervision, has been of good grade."

For the first time the local school will be represented this fall at the Chicago technological school. Ned Helms, Harold Dearborn, W. Graves, and probably several others will take up work there upon the opening of the fall term.

AS EDITOR WILDER SEES THE GOVERNOR

Writer in the Madison State Journal Calls La Follette a Hypnotist and Demagogue.

A year ago we were in the midst of a bitter political fight. The papers about the state were full of articles praising the governor and some of them went at lengths to make much of his much maligned character. Prominent among them was the Wisconsin State Journal whose present editor Amos P. Wilder came from Maine. Today Mr. Wilder talks differently and writes differently. The governor's recent speech at the Monona Lake assembly has inspired the following which in so much as we printed the news of the speech as news matter we do so with this likewise. Perhaps it rightly belongs in the editorial column but it is news just the same.

Peanuts and Hysterics.

There must be some law to prevent a man, even a governor, from going about the state, besmirching such citizens as Johnson of Racine, Beach of Whitewater, Morse of Princeton, Mosher of New Richmond, O'Neill of Bayfield, Whitehead of Janesville, Kreutzer of Wausau and others. We do not think of any test under which in comparison R. M. La Follette can be pronounced a "better man." We say to the Lakeside audience which listened to the smooth and insidious scandal-mongering of this French wizard that we would in preference trust our last dollar or dearest interest with any one of the men mentioned above—rascals all, according to La Follette's reasoning.

There may have been rogues in the Wisconsin senate. It is not impossible that there may have been bribery during the session. But to slyly confuse all who opposed Gov. La Follette—those who distrust the man as a disturber and elusive, as one of unstable judgment and spectacular qualities—to confuse these honest men with rogues and hold all alike up to opprobrium merely because all were a unit in opposing La Follette is unjust and brutal. We for one, protest. The men of Wisconsin will never get more faithful, honest, loyal representatives in their senate than some of these men whom La Follette attempted in his Lakeside speech to pass off as "corruption hirelings." It was his most daring feat of oratorical deception; the districts in which these labelled senators and assemblymen live and where they are known must be amazed and disgusted.

It was not only demagoguery but hypnotism. It was taking a big audience, largely country people, adroitly harping on corporations and so getting their minds in an inflamed condition that the speaker himself seemed to be the only Palladium of our liberties. Anyone, therefore, who is not for La Follette must be an enemy to his country! No matter whether it be so wise a man as General Winkler of Milwaukee—a Wisconsin soldier, the recognized head of the state bar, old, safe, good. Gen. Winkler distrusts La Follette as a public servant. He does not think him a good administrator nor a clear headed disinterested, sagacious man to head the government. And yet Gen. Winkler and all such are brushed aside—they too are "enemies of the people" because they are politically unfavorable to La Follette.

This is a delirium that will soon pass away. An era of sense and justice must return. We cannot be rascals—those of us who conclude that Wisconsin has had enough La Folletteism. Surely all real reform is not done by black-haired orators who practice elocution before the groundlings until calm deliberation of skilled, sensible, but plain-talking men seem foolishness; oratory is only one of the factors of statecraft. Good sense is a thing to tie to for a long pull and must come in fashion again. Even the mysteries of Hermann and Kollar will not stand, in definite exploitation. How much longer will Gov. Bob's awful warnings, genial arm-rubs and secret negotiations stand the wear and tear of publicity and familiar use?

No doubt the corporations need to be subdued but may we not do it without waving red flags? Is it not even possible that a railway commission may be established in the state without denouncing every manufacturer, setting friend against friend and dividing families? Is it thus Roosevelt effects betterments? Was it the method of Benjamin Harrison? Does it not suggest the loving, and absolutely fearless Lincoln? Who are their "great governors" that Wisconsin, Massachusetts and other commonwealths hold in veneration? Are they not Wolcott and Washburn and Russell and Rusk and Greenhalge and all these men sweat and toil to set man against man and convulse their states? Did they not rather appeal to the best in all men rather than provoke bitterness and hate? Is the price of liberty such turmoil as Wisconsin has known ever since Gov. La Follette got an ambition, first in 1896, to be governor; and second, since that cruel and unnecessary campaign of vilification and falsehood, to prevent honest, careful, wise Gov. Scofield from the customary second term? We for one are sick of fireworks of dramatic sleight-of-hand. We hunger and thirst for something real and genuine. We long for the re-enthronement of a governor in this state on whom one may call on public business without first the scenes being set, the red-fire being made ready, the electric shock machine charged for the country trade. We long for a government of the people in which brains and experience clash in friendly rut in the search for wisdom. We are tired of the monarchy, of one man power, without even a nobility in the second rank—with no one but Munson and some office-bribed university boys and a lot of hysterical wives, aunts, cousins and brother-in-law. Let us have a state government that calls into action all the untrials in the state—it will be none too much. Let us have a governor who is constitutionally able to consult with others and get results along the line of united wisdom.

Gov. La Follette's conclusions are either political peanuts or hysterics—a Harvey Clark for the board of control who is unfit or a Conklin for the wardenship who doesn't want it. La Follette lacks wisdom and without wisdom, as without charity, one is as brass or a tinkling cymbal.

The certificate may be left undated, or the age of the contracting parties omitted. In some parts of Little Russia a relative during the ceremony, gives the bride a slap to prove in case of need that she has married under compulsion. Women who succeed in obtaining a separation from their husbands on the grounds of informality are received again and may even be separated again without loss of position. There is, however, a more healthy public spirit arising, which tends strongly in favor of an adjustment of the present laws.

NEVER MIND THE SEA SHORE PICNIC

Bake Your Clams Any Old Place Where You Can Find a Pile of Stones.

Do not be discouraged if you cannot pitch your clam picnic on the sea shore. If you can get good clams in the shell and know how to cook them you are bound to have a good time. So take the best available site and be happy, says a writer in Country Life in America.

Provide a pile of stones, a hundred or more, of the size of coconuts or muskmelons; or, if you live in a region where cobbles do not grow, take bricks or some pieces of old stone or sheet iron; moreover primitive your apparatus the more fun in the bake. There must be a generous supply of dry wood of all sizes and the best firemen. In the company should proceed to amass a deep bed of coals. The stones, iron or bricks are placed therein, and after these are heated piping hot you are ready to build up the bake.

It is worth while to have seaweed, if you have to drive twenty miles for it, but if obtainable you can make shift with well-moistened hay, grass or such material to make a steaming bed for the vlands to cook on. First a layer of seaweed several inches deep, then the potatoes, sweet potatoes, clams and green corn in order, using judgment so as to not have your material burned to much by coals or heat and yet be sure of enough heat to finish cooking. Potatoes, if too large, will need to cook longer than the clams or corn. The latter should be husked, with the exception of one lay over the kernels. Now cover all with seaweed and let the mass steam for twenty to forty minutes. Frequent inspections with attending burns and sooty fingers, are part of the fun.

Long forks, fire shovels, tongs, or ruder implements of green wood will come into play to tend to the bake and abstract the vlands. The latter may be served on wooden plates, with paper napkins, the guests sit about on rocks of grass or a few benches may be laid and a common table provided. Butter, pepper, and salt are permissible, with a few lemons, but you do not desire too many civilized concomitants.

Women Scullers.

Feminine Aquatic Stars to Again Row For the World's Championship.

The third race for the woman's sculling championship of the world will be rowed on Creve Coeur lake, near St. Louis, during the month of August, according to arrangements recently completed between St. Louis promoters and Miss Tillie Ashley, who has been claiming the title of woman champion.

Miss Ashley has already been thrice beaten by Miss Rose Mosenheim of St. Louis, who is the legitimate holder of the championship. In an interview Miss Mosenheim stated that Miss Ashley had no claim to the title whatever, but that she would be willing to meet Miss Ashley at short notice when the plans of John J. Schaub and others in making the match were completed.

It is claimed in some parts of the country that Miss Ashley is a much

MISS ROSE MOSENHEIM OF ST. LOUIS, WORLD'S CHAMPION WOMAN SCULLER.

Improved oarswoman since Miss Mosenheim defeated her and that a race between the two would show up the eastern woman to advantage. Miss Ashley lives at Hartford, Conn., and is constantly on the water.

The race, if arranged, will be one of few instances in sport where really capable oarswomen have contested. In all the world there are at present probably not half a dozen women who make professional claims to skill at single sculls.

Of all sports possible to femininity rowing is perhaps one least in accord with the possibilities of woman's supposed characteristics. It requires not only strength, constant practice, fearlessness and determination, but stamina.

Miss Ashley tells her own story of her experiences as follows:

"Have you ever sat in a single scull? If you haven't you should. When you first get into one you feel as though you were trying to sit on top of a bubble of quicksilver. A single scull is little more than a line. It is about sixteen inches wide at its greatest beam and is something in the neighborhood of thirty feet long. It is very shallow and would upset in a minute if it were not in motion or balanced by an experienced hand at the oars.

"Riding a bicycle for the first time may be compared to your first experience in a shell, only the bicycle does not offer the same element of danger. Before trying a single scull it is necessary to know how to swim.

"The best oarsmen in the world sometimes get upset if the water happens to be bad. Since I first got into a single scull I have had good fortune. That was eight years ago on Creve Coeur lake and I have never been in the water from an upset yet.

"Of course I had been rowing all my life before that. I was perfectly at home in the water and was not nervous, therefore, as to what would happen if I were upset. I went at it with confidence.

"One of my rowing club friends asked me to get into his shell one day as a joke and was somewhat frightened when I took him up. At first it was awkward. The long outriggers for the oars, instead of the oarlocks I had been used to, the long light oars with the spoon blades and the extreme lightness of the boat were very strange.

"I caught a few 'crabs' at the start, but I was careful not to work hard, so that when I missed a stroke I did not shoot back and sway the boat. The sliding seat made matters worse until I caught the swing of it. It seemed to diminish the resistance to my stroke until I found that there was a real positive advantage accruing from it."

A TRUE FLESH-FORMING FOOD

If Ml-o-na Does Not Build Up Good Healthy Flesh King's Pharmacy Will Return Your Money.

Of all the remedies in King's Pharmacy popular drug store there are very few they are willing to sell with a guarantee to refund the money if they do not give satisfaction.

Ml-o-na, the famous flesh-forming food has done such wonders among their customers that King's Pharmacy are now advertising "If Ml-o-na does not give a noticeable gain in weight, if it fails to cure indigestion and all stomach troubles, come back to our store and get your money."

Anyone who has been losing flesh or who has always been too thin, should use Ml-o-na. Thinness and emaciation are signs that the food is not properly assimilated and that you do not get the nourishment you should.

Ml-o-na mingles with the food you eat, adds its assimilation, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, and put the whole system in proper physical condition; it saves the digestive organs from exhaustive work. By its use the elements needed to put flesh on your bones will be selected from the food, and each day will show a noticeable gain in weight.

King's Pharmacy sold hundreds of boxes of Ml-o-na in the last few weeks and have yet to hear the first complaint. Such a record is simply marvelous and speaks volumes for the wonderful merit of the preparation.

Do not suffer a day longer from annoying thinness or scrawiness; do not allow indigestion to make your life miserable. Commence the use of Ml-o-na today at our risk. If it increases your weight and cures you of indigestion, it will cost you 50c; if it does not King's Pharmacy will pay for the treatment themselves and return your money to you.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, August 5, 1863.—Van Amburgh and Co's. menagerie made its appearance on our streets. at noon, and gratified a large crowd by its imposing display. There will be an exhibition this evening on the hill in the rear of Mr. Jackman's residence, and the attendance will undoubtedly be large.

Gov. Salomon has sent to the secretary of the soldiers' relief society, Washington, six flags for each regiment from this state in the army of the Potomac. The flags have been inserted upon them the names of the regiments for which they were intended, and the battles in which they were engaged.

A chap down in Connecticut, after the passage of the conscription act, got married to evade the draft. He now says, if he can't get a divorce, he will enlist, as, if he must fight, he would rather do so for his country. The fellow has evidently made a mistake, matrimonially.

A Proclamation.—It has pleased Almighty God to hearken to supplications and prayers of an afflicted people, and to vouchsafe to the army and the navy of the United States, on the land and on the sea, victories so signal and effective as to furnish reasonable grounds for the augmented confidence that the union of these states will be maintained, their constitution, and their peace, and prosperity permanently preserved.

Now, therefore, be it known that I do set apart Thursday, the sixth day of August, next, to be observed as a day for National Thanksgiving, praise and prayer. By the President.
ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Wm. H. Seward, Secretary of State.

Marriage In Russia.

As a daughter the Russian woman is under the absolute sway of her parents. The coming of age makes no alteration in her position, says the Westminster Review. Until the day of her death, if she remains unmarried, the place she occupies in the family life is a place of dependence upon the will of her parents. When a woman marries she changes the authority of parents for the no less unqualified authority of husband. As the Russian statute reasonably expects to fully satisfy two such unlimited powers as that of husband and parent. The unlimited power of the parent, therefore, is withdrawn and that of her husband substituted. She cannot leave him even to visit a neighboring town without a pass from him. He names the time she is to stay, and at the expiration of the term she is bound to return to get it renewed. A husband may appear in a court of law as a witness against his wife, but a wife is not permitted to appear against her husband. A woman's evidence is regarded also as of less weight than that of a man. "When two witnesses do not agree," the code runs, "the testimony of any adult outweighs that of a woman."

According to the tenets of the Russian church, marriage is a sacrament and is theoretically indissoluble.

There is no such thing as a civil marriage and divorce, except in one case, is practically unobtainable by a woman. The exception is the deprivation of civil rights and banishment of the husband. If the wife chooses she can follow her husband into exile and Russian literature is full of pathetic stories of women, tenderly nurtured, braving the terrors of the long Siberian march. All children, however, born in exile, are regarded as belonging to the lowest class of society. If, on the other hand, the wife seeks on the plea of her husband's banishment, divorce, the church in this case relaxes her discipline and grants the plea. Although the statute recognizes adultery and desertion as grounds for divorce, the law is beset with such difficulties that it is never resorted to except by the wealthy, who can always make the tardy wheels revolve more swiftly.

While divorce is difficult to obtain, there are other means resorted to which reach the same destination, only by a different route. Laws in Russia are not made to be broken but to be evaded, and both the civil and the ecclesiastical authorities have learned the art of evasion to perfection. Marriages may be annulled if any informally has occurred in

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

BRYAN AND LA FOLLETTE.

It is not a surprising state of affairs that even the mouthpiece of the executive machine recognizes the great similarity between the Wisconsin reformer and the disgruntled candidate of the Platte river basin. It is not surprising nor is it strange that the state should dare to come out openly and place the two men upon the same platform they have been so long considered to occupy in the minds of thinking republicans. Two years ago the fight against the methods of the governor and his clique began. A body of men who were interested in the welfare of the state and of the republican party as a whole joined together under the name of the republican league. The result of their work is shown by the re-election of Senator Spooner to the United States senate. Had it not been that they placed a candidate in the field for the gubernatorial nomination the present executive would have had things his own way and Spooner might have been defeated by a good sized majority in the last legislature. As it was Senator Spooner and conservative republicanism won a victory that is not often recorded in the annals of any state that goes as far as Wisconsin had at the previous election. The state which is owned and controlled by La Follette sympathizers is the first to admit openly the great similarity between La Follette and Bryan of all the La Follette elements. In their issue of July 24 they say:

Gov. La Follette and W. J. Bryan would find it to their advantage to exchange speeches occasionally, as they would thereby secure variety of expression.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

It would be no disadvantage to Mr. Bryan if he would become a student of Gov. La Follette's speeches. And it would be of very great advantage to the Sentinel's readers if they were placed in easy reach of the things spoken by Gov. La Follette and Mr. Bryan no matter what either of these gentlemen may say or do. Perhaps papers that are maintained primarily to create sentiment in favor of public service corporations are not expected to discover merits in any individuals who demand that such corporations be treated with the same consideration only as is shown to private citizens. "Equal rights for all and special privileges for none" is a platform on which Mr. Bryan and Gov. La Follette can easily stand, but there is no room on such a platform for the Sentinel, which stands as the advocate, champion and apologist of special privileges.

Need anything more be said. Does it not condemn itself by praise. All true republicans should read carefully and note the similarities with the fallacies of Bryan and see if they are ready to adopt the Popocratic ideas he propounds.

PEONAGE.

In spite of the unpromising beginning in the peonage cases, Alabama has responded nobly to the call to suppress that hideous practice, has sent the worst offenders to the penitentiary and punished those guilty of minor derelictions. The failure of the jury in one of the early cases to convict in the face of the clearest evidence and of the ringing denunciation of Judge Jones seems to have aroused the better sentiment of the state, and as usual the better sentiment was found to be in the overwhelming majority. The attempt to make it appear that because the cases were tried in a federal court the exposures were rigged up to cast discredit on Alabama was too silly to make any impression on intelligent Alabama opinion. The politiclians and interested rascals who attempted to divert attention from the actual situation, as subsequently proved in court, and by the confessions of the indicted, have nothing for their pains except the contempt of their respectable fellow citizens. In the crusade in behalf of humanity and the honor of Alabama the Montgomery Advertiser took a leading and effective part. Its vigorous support of the court and denunciation of the attempt to cloud the issue had much to do in preventing thoughtless Alabamians from imagining that honor can stand rooted in dishonor.

AT OUR DOORS.

The newspapers in this country and a great many abroad seem to think that the existence of the lynching habit and other social and political vices in this country estops all protest against social or political wrongs in other countries. This was specially manifest while the Jewish position was pending. The implied and in some cases the explicit argument was that it was merely hypocrisy for a nation that tolerated lynching to protest against analogous practices in other countries. The fallacy in this argument hardly needs pointing out. It assumes that the persons who protest against evils in foreign countries either indulge in lynchings in this country or tolerate them. The fact is that those who are touched by the cry of sufferers abroad are even more vehement in their denunciation of lynching at home and do what they can to prevent it. To the great body of Americans lynching is as hideous as Jew-baiting and much more hateful because of the disgrace of it. When it is the lynchers who sign Jewish petitions it will be time enough to resort to the pitiful "you're another." But as long as any man keeps his won hands clean of blood it is his right and his duty even if he is the only citizen of this country who is not a brute, to exert his influence in whatever way he can against wrong and injustice whether it be in Wilmington, Del., or Kishineff, Bessarabia.

POPE PIUS.

Another pope has been chosen. An obscure cardinal has been raised to the highest office in the gift of the Catholic church. Born of poor parents he has risen from a lowly novice to the papacy of all Christendom. Primarily, he is a church man and his coming reign should do away with much of the ill feeling that has existed between vatican and state. He is not a diplomat but a true christian who is to reign over millions of subjects. The Catholic church is fortunate in the selection just made. They enter into a new life with a new leader. Pope Leo IX is passed and Pope Pius IX reigns in his stead. Long life to the new pope and may he follow in the footsteps of his worthy predecessor Pope Leo.

MADISON JOURNAL.

It is understood an effort is being made to secure a speaker and allow him the privilege on the Lakeside platform of replying to Gov. La Follette. ## FOUR DIVISIONS OF THE FLEECE

WOOL USED AT ROCK RIVER MILLS IS CLASSIFIED.

TERRITORY WOOL DISCOLORED

Shows Traces of Lack of Care—Good Breeding Shows in the Fleece.

Some of the raw material used at the Woolen Mills, in Janesville, is called "Territory Wool." This is the common name for one of the four classes or grades of wool. Based on the condition of the fleeces the market makes a division of four kinds in the common product. These are what are known as domestic wool, territory wool, blanket wool and carpet wool. The domestic wools are clean and bright. Wool of this kind comes from fleeces that are grown under what might be termed domestic conditions, that is, sheep are given shelter, fed well, and otherwise have good management. This results in a wool that is bright and clear of dirt, and is classified in the home market as the domestic article.

Territory Wool
In contrast to this, is the territory wool. This wool is called territory wool simply because it is dirty or it is discolored. It is a wool that comes from the sheep that are managed and cared for in a way similar to that which is common in the territories. The sheep have run out the year round; the fleeces have become full of sand, straw, chaff and similar substances, and this has filled the fleeces with foreign material.

Carpet and Blanket Wool
Other kinds of sheeps covering that goes to the market are known as carpet wool and blanket wool. The worst feature connected with this kind of wool is the presence of "kemp" or dead fibres of the good wool. On account of these not freely absorbing the dyes, this wool has to be manufactured into carpets and blankets. When the nature of the fleece of the original sheep is understood so that the improvement that has been made through breeding for many years becomes apparent, it can be easily seen that when sheep are neglected the tendency is for their fleeces to revert to the original condition.

Original Conditions
In this condition the fleeces were made up of an external covering of hairs and beneath it an undergrowth of very finely fibered wool. Domestication by man has completely removed the hair and gives a fine fleece of wool which exists on well bred sheep today. Neglect on the part of the breeder will surely result in the sheep reverting to the kind of fleeces that it at one time possessed.

MUCH DAMAGE TO TELEPHONE WIRES

Trees Are Blown Over the Toll Lines

WALTER B. KIRK ENDS HIS LIFE

BARBER IN GRAND HOTEL SHOP
COMMITTS SUICIDE.

BLEW OUT THE GAS AT HOTEL

Registered at Park Hotel Under an Assumed Name—Found This Morning—Out of Work.

Walter B. Kirk, a barber, was found dead in a room in the Park hotel this morning. The gas which filled the room told the whole story. He lost his position in the James F. Sweeney barber shop, near the Grand hotel, a week ago today, and since that time has been out of work. Excessive drinking is supposed to be the indirect cause of his action.

Kirk took a room at the Park hotel last evening, registering under the name, C. E. Russ, Freeport. He is said to have been perfectly sober at the time. When he was found in the room between eight and nine o'clock this morning a whisky bottle half emptied, was also discovered.

Was Out of Work

Mr. Sweeney says that Kirk was one of his best men. On Friday day he took in $9.20, when the man working beside him only made about $6.

But he indulged in liquor to excess, and several times left for a few days at a time. Last Wednesday he drew his last pay from Sweeney and did not go near the shop again. He was of a happy-go-lucky disposition, and his friends were surprised that he should deliberately choose to end his life, although a more morose person might be expected to do so under similar circumstances.

Kirk leaves a wife and a ten year old son in this city, living on South Academy street.

Fred R. Jones of the Hotel London believes that Kirk was planning to end his life on Monday. Kirk went to the hotel early in the morning, registering under his own name, and remained in the room all day, complaining that he was unable to work.

At eight o'clock in the evening he went out, saying he would return later to spend the night. As he went out he appeared extremely nervous and irresolute. He did not return.

For the past year I have been troubled with a bad case of dandruff. October last, I started to treat it with first one dandruff cure and then another but the dandruff seemed to get worse instead of better. Some weeks ago I commenced using Wetmore's Improved Hair Tonic, thoroughly massaging the scalp two or three times a week and can truthfully say that I have not a particle of dandruff in my hair.

I gladly endorse Wetmore's Hair Tonic and consider it the best hair preparation on the market today.

HE CARRIES NO EXTRA WEIGHT

IS WALKING TO FAR NORTH

Robert M. Wilson Will Not Return
Until November of Next Year—
Was Here Today.

Glad like a Wild West cowboy, with broad hat and gun, at his belt Robert M. Wilson, editor of the Durand Clipper arrived in the city last evening on his pedestrian trip to Cape Lisbourne. He had gained half a day on his schedule by dint of walking Sunday. Thirty miles a day has been his average thus far. This distance will be cut down when he strikes regions less easily travelled on his route to the far north.

Mr. Wilson gives his age as twenty-eight, his weight about 165 pounds and his height, six feet. He sends back a daily letter to the "Oaks" the Illinois publication for which he is undertaking the journey.

Late in the fall of next year he expects to return from his long journey. As now announced he will then devote himself to lecturing for a year, after which he will make a trip through South America.

His journey began on Saturday. Fearing that his long march on the first day would leave him stiffened, and tired if he stopped for a long halt, he did not rest on Sunday, as he had planned to do.

Under Thirty Years Old

Wilson is wiry rather than powerful in build. His frame is large and bony, he has no superfluous weight to carry. He gained his capacity for walking long distances during a time when he was serving his apprenticeship as a printer and walked eight miles daily, to and from the town in which he was working.

Registers at Postoffice

To prove that he has visited the cities on his route he goes to the post in each place and has a little book which he carries postmarked with the official stamp of the office, showing the date and the hour.

COLD WEATHER RETARDS CROPS

CORN IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Great Improvement Shown in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and in Portions of Illinois and the Lake Region—Rain Has Been Beneficial.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Following is the official weekly crop report issued by the department of agriculture:

Throughout the northern portions of the country, from New England to the north Pacific coast, the temperature was too low for the best results, there being light frosts in North Dakota. In the southern states the weather was more favorable, although clear and warmer weather is needed in the west and gulf districts.

Portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf states and the central and lower Mississippi valleys need rain, but elsewhere, east of the Rocky mountains, rains have been ample, being excessively heavy in central and northeastern Texas, in the eastern portions of Nebraska and Kansas, and over areas in Ohio valley and the east gulf states. It is now dry in the central and southern Rocky mountain districts.

Corn Improves.
Corn is generally improved, especially in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and portions of Illinois and the lake region, the least favorable reports being received from Missouri and the Ohio valley states. The crop continues late. An excellent crop now is assured in the southern states.

General rains in the spring wheat region of the upper Missouri and the Red River of the North valleys checked the ripening of spring wheat and caused a better filling of heads. Harvesting is in progress, some of the early sown being cut in the northern portion, but it was delayed by rains in South Dakota and Nebraska.

In the Northwest.
Harvesting also is in progress in Oregon with a light yield, but of excellent quality. In Washington the crop is maturing slowly, but is filling well. Rust in oats is quite extensively reported in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and portions of Pennsylvania, but the late rains have benefited the crop in Minnesota. Harvesting is well advanced in the more northerly sections, being largely completed elsewhere, with yields generally lighter than anticipated.

Cotton is Too Rank.
The improvement in cotton continues generally throughout the cotton belt. It is fruiting well, although of too rank a growth in portions and shedding on the shady lands in the Carolinas is reported. Rains have been detrimental in the central and southwestern portions of the cotton area in Texas, but have been beneficial in the northern portion, while the boll weevil appears to be more destructive in a few of the southwestern counties. Clear warm weather is needed in Louisiana and Texas. The crop continues late.

Tobacco is needing rain in portions of the Ohio valley and Virginia, but the general condition of the crop is promising.

Rains caused injury to hay in Texas, New York and Michigan and delayed haying in South Dakota and New England; elsewhere this work has progressed under favorable conditions.

Gypsy Kills Wife.
Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—In a fit of jealous rage "Lou" Heine, a gypsy shot and killed his wife.

Well-Matured Breeding Animals Needed.

More and more the stock-breeders of the United States are becoming convinced that they must have only mature animals for breeders if the stamina of their flocks and herds is to be kept up. At the Wisconsin Experiment station it was found that one-year-old rams were not as prolific as two and three year old rams. With ewes also it was demonstrated that the ewes below three years of age gave a smaller percentage of increase than the ewes that had reached three years. We have been trying to intensify the quality of early maturity by breeding from immature parents, till it has become evident that the stamina of the breeds is being weakened. Now our stations are pointing out the necessity for using more mature animals, and they are finding the lesson difficult to teach.

Many a courageous man will take water rather than pay for a drink.

Points on Sugar Beet Growing.

The growers of sugar beets in Nebraska declare that the sugar beet is a great drought resistor. This is certainly one point in favor of the sugar beet, whether for sugar making or for stock feeding. Whether the sugar beet can be best produced on light or heavy soil is a question yet in dispute. In some experiments the largest yields were on the heavy soils, but the largest average yields were on the light soils. On the whole, the results were more favorable to the heavy soils. The use of commercial fertilizers has resulted in increasing the sugar contents of beets, but frequently not enough to pay the cost of the fertilizers used. The phosphates made the best showing as to returns.

In the cultivation of sugar beets, it is desirable to provide a dust mulch, and the depth of cultivation will be generally regulated by the depth required to keep up a dust mulch, which differs in different soils. In some cases it cannot be maintained by anything less than a three or four-inch deep cultivation. The distance apart of the rows will have much to do with the size of the beets and something to do with sugar contents. About eighteen inches seems to be the ideal distance apart for the rows, and the beets in the rows should not be separated by more than eight inches. Too much room means too big beets with too little proportion of sugar.

It is rather surprising to learn that the weeds that are sometimes allowed to grow in the sugar beet field have the power of stealing the sugar from the sugar beets or of at least keeping the beets from getting all the sugar they would otherwise acquire. A test to prove this was made at the Nebraska station. On four plots of beets some were left weedy and some were kept clean. Beets from the four weedy plots were analyzed and gave respectively, 12.9, 12.0, 9.8, 9.2, per cent of sugar content. From the clean plots the beets analyzed 13.2, 12.5, 11.0, 10.7. In all cases the difference was in favor of the plot that was kept clean. It is true that this was but one experiment and a great law should not be laid down on a single experiment, but it must be considered as having some weight.

It is not desired to have beets very large, nor is it desirable to start a growth in the fall after the beet is properly mature. A season of wet weather in the fall is very likely to start a new growth of the beet, which increases in size without increasing the amount of sugar contained. If the buds form and expand on the crown of the beet there is an actual loss of sugar.

High Protein and High Starch Corn.

From the Farmers' Review: Now that the farmers of Illinois are turning their attention to growing high protein corn for the purpose of getting a better balanced ration for stock feeding, it will be well to consider some of the probable results. To grow a large crop of high protein corn will require a soil rich in nitrogen. The trouble with most Illinois farms, where a proper rotation of corn and clover or other leguminous plants have not been followed, is that these lands are already deficient in nitrogen, and to attempt to grow a high protein corn upon them in their present condition, will likely result in disappointing yields. It seems probable that the yield from such lands will decrease as the protein content of the corn is increased. It is now an established fact that the corn plant cannot obtain nitrogen from the air, but is dependent entirely upon that which is available in the soil. There is, therefore, but one course for the grower of high protein corn to follow, and that is to increase the nitrogen in the soil by growing more clover, cow peas, soy beans and other legumes, all of which have the power of obtaining nitrogen from the air through the agency of bacteria in their root tubercles. While it is essential that these leguminous crops should be grown by every corn grower, I wish to emphasize the point that the grower of high protein corn will exhaust available nitrogen in the soil more rapidly than the grower of high starch corn and must, therefore, have soil rich in that element to obtain the best results.

As feeders we want the high protein corn for our live stock, but it seems probable that a high starch corn would be less exhausting upon the soil and give a larger yield on light and thin soils. We do not know this to be true. But since all plants get their carbon from the air it would seem that the variety of corn containing the most carbonaceous matter and least protein would produce the largest yield in bushels on thin soils. This is a point of much interest to the grain seller who cares more for yield than for feeding value. We would like to hear from Prof. Hopkins on this point.—Clayton C. Pervier, Bureau County, Illinois.

It pays to make first-class butter, but it is also necessary that the maker should know how to get first-class prices for it. The man that takes his butter to the corner grocery and sells it at the same price his neighbors are getting for poor butter has not yet learned how to get the most out of his product.

EFFICIENT GO BETWEEN

[Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.]

Mrs. Maguire rolled up her knitting with a nervous click of the needles. "If that man don't quit hanging round here," she muttered, "tis in the crazy house I'll be."

She rose and turned her back on the door of the outer waiting room. But the man's face haunted her. It was the helpless look in his eyes of one suddenly cut loose from the ordinary routine of life and cast adrift which Mrs. Maguire could not forget.

She had seen it many times in the last few days, occasionally during the hours when he stood watching outward bound passengers and more often as he scanned the occupants of the ladies' waiting room. In the weariness of his search the vigor of middle life was giving place to age.

"Tis neither food nor sleep he's had this week past," Mrs. Maguire thought and turned with a sudden determination to speak to him.

Even as she did so he staggered and sat down wearily. One hand went out and, grasping a newspaper which lay near, held it before his face. Above it his eyes were fixed in a hungry gaze. Mrs. Maguire knew that his search was ended.

She turned slowly, following the direction of his eyes, and noticed for the first time a small, pale woman sitting with her profile toward the door. The brown hair which lay softly on her temples was plentifully streaked with gray. Her blue eyes held the brightness of unshed tears. The hands, which held a shabby grip-sack on her lap, clutched it as if it were some fast slipping resolve.

Mrs. Maguire left the room and went straight to the man who sat outside.

"Is that who you've been looking for?" she asked quietly.

He tore his gaze away with a start of surprise and nodded.

"Your wife?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Maguire waited a moment. Then she ventured again:

"What did she leave you for?"

"Don't think it wasn't—her fault?"

He stopped, choking. "She thought I had stopped loving her."

Suddenly his face began to work.

"Hester," he muttered, with groping fingers, "Hester—you don't know—what the house is—without you!"

Mrs. Maguire laid a hand on his shoulder and shook him slightly.

"Look here," she demanded, "is it trying to live without food or sleep you've been this past week?"

His eyes had gone back to the quiet

figure in the ladies' waiting room as if he grudged losing sight of it even for a moment. His face held the look of one for whom all things were at an end.

Mrs. Maguire left him and sauntered slowly back to her own domain. Presently she approached the woman with the shabby grip-sack.

"Was it you who was asking me about the western trains, ma'am?" she inquired casually.

"No." The woman's eyes were raised in mild surprise for a moment as she shook her head.

"Tis a more comfortable chair you might as well have if you've long to wait," Mrs. Maguire said civilly.

"Thank you, but it is hardly worth while."

Still Mrs. Maguire lingered with such evident desire to do something for the comfort of this passenger that the latter felt constrained by her kindly intent to speak again. "The express for New York leaves at 9:35, does it not?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am; at 9:35."

Then Mrs. Maguire moved away. She picked up a magazine and leisurely replaced it on the table, shook out some pillows on a couch near the door and slipped outside.

"Tis to New York she's going," she whispered eagerly to the man who still held the paper before his face. "You've got twenty minutes. Take your ticket, and for the love of heaven, man, get something to eat. 'Tis fairly staggering ye are."

What Mrs. Maguire did not see and never knew of took place a quarter of an hour later when a woman, entering the vestibule of a sleeping car, swayed and lost her balance as the engine backed against the train.

For a sickening second her eyes closed. Her hands went out gropingly, dropping the grip-sack they had held.

Then the arm that was the arm of youth in the strength of its love went round her. With a blessed sense of safety, her eyes opened and rested on the well worn edge of a familiar overcoat which only a few weeks before her own fingers had repaired.

In the wavering light the face of the man, who through love of her and the loss of her had aged within a week, was white with pleading.

And the woman stumbled forward against his breast.

M. LOUISE CUMMINS.

What she thought.

"Was she willing to pay so much for such an insignificant husband?" asked the thoughtful girl.

"Oh, dear, no," replied the well posted girl. "She was buying a position in English society when she took the duke and not a husband. He was simply done up in the package."—Chicago Post.

INSIST ON SPEEDY ACTION

Company Was Notified of Conditions of New Wage Schedule Last Fall, But Management Is Said to Have Delayed Matters.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Two thousand conductors and trainmen employed by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad have voted to go on a strike unless their demands for higher wages and better working conditions are granted within a few days. More trouble may be in store for the Alton road also, Larry Curran threatening a strike of freight handlers and teamsters in towns along the line through Illinois.

The employees from the southwest lines of the Rock Island are clamoring for trouble, and with the radical element of the north and west have declared that they will not wait for prolonged negotiations. They want the same concessions that were recently granted by almost every other road in the west.

Manager Is Puzzled.

General Manager C. A. Goodnow of the system is at a loss to understand the restive spirit among the men. He said that he has always been willing to grant the men the wage schedule established by the other companies, but that he desired to talk over certain working rules which are in effect only on the Rock Island system.

The strike vote was taken last week and when it had been counted First Vice Grand Master W. G. Leo of the trainmen and Chief Conductor E. E. Clark of the conductors started for Chicago. When they arrived they met a committee of the employees and made arrangements to hold a conference with the general manager to-day. They will demand a speedy settlement.

Demand 20 Per Cent.

The employees of the Rock Island road, with those of every other system in the west, decided last summer to demand a 20 per cent increase in wages over the schedule which was framed ten years ago. Last fall they fled their demands and since then have been negotiating with the various roads.

The Santa Fe was the first to sign a new scale. It gave the freight hands a 15 per cent increase and the passenger men a 12 per cent advance. Since then the other roads, except the Rock Island, have adopted the same schedule with but little debate, the only disputes arising over changes in working conditions.

The employees of the Rock Island are indignant at the management for its alleged delays. They declare that it is anxious to get a lower schedule to force the men to accept objectionable rules and regulations. So bitter has been the feeling against the company that the strike vote carried by a heavy majority.

Does Not Expect Trouble.

At the conference to-day the management of the road expects to clear up the situation. Many of the members of the committee of the employees hope, but do not expect, that this will be done. They fear that it may be necessary to call out the men and do not hesitate to say that such action will be taken if necessary.

"There have been conferences with our men for some time," said General Manager Goodnow, "and I expect to meet other committees which I understand are in town. I do not look for any trouble, as the Rock Island road is willing to grant the wage increase that has been conceded by the other companies of the west."

"Are you going to call a strike?" was asked of Grand Master Leo.

"I do not know," came the reply. "Nothing was done to-day. Further than this I do not feel at liberty to say."
